

I feel strongly that the use of my telephone is something which I should be able to control by deciding who has access to it - when I first moved to the US I had 7/8 calls a night trying to sell me goods I did not want - I consider this to be an invasion of my privacy, at a time when I am with my family.
I support a strong do not call system, as currently used in New Jersey